Calculating your premium

Six easy steps to find your premium

To calculate your price we take into consideration four things:

- The number of people you wish to cover
- Their individual ages
- Your country of residence
- Choice of deductible

Step one

Find your country of residence to establish your zone (eg Argentina is zone 5). This can be found on the page opposite.

Step two

Go to the tables which are marked with your zone. In your zone you will find two tables:

- Diamond - Annual premiums
- Diamond - Semi-annual premiums

Step three

Decide on your method of payment (annually or semi-annually).

Step four

Locate your age and that of any others you wish to include on your policy.

Step five

Decide which annual deductible your want for each person to be insured.

Step six

Look across the page for your age line and find your deductible option which will give you your price.

How to pay the premium

On page 7 you will find several payment options.

Important thing to remember

Your subscription rate will be based on your country of residence at the first day of your policy year. If you move to a country in another zone, your premium may increase or decrease. This change will take effect as of your policy anniversary date.

The semi-annual premiums are 52% of the annual rates. The age-related premium is applied at the first coming premium payment. A previous medical history may cause a higher premium, and in some instances an exclusion in the insurance cover.

Your policy premium may be subject to Insurance Premium Tax based on your country of residence. If this is the case, the amount of any taxes, levies or charges will be shown on your premium notice. For more detailed information on any taxes in your country of residence, please refer to IHI or your local representative.
